27 – 30 October 2025

I. INTRODUCTION

The Sixty Third Session of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) will take place in Lima, Peru from 27 to 30 October 2025.

Peru, located in South America, is bordered with Ecuador, Colombia, Brazil and Chile. With population of over 32 million, Peru is a megadiverse country, with habitats ranging from the arid plains of the Pacific coastal region in the west, to the peaks of the Andes mountains extending from the north to the southeast of the country, to the tropical Amazon basin rainforest in the east with the Amazon River.

The name Peru is derived from a Quechua word implying land of abundance, a reference to the economic wealth produced by the rich and highly organized Inca civilization that ruled the region for centuries. The country's vast mineral, agricultural, and marine resources long have served as the economic foundation of the country.

Peru is divided into 25 regions and its capital and largest city is Lima.

6. HEALTH REQUIREMENTS & MEDICAL SERVICES

Health requirements

Peru does not require vaccinations for entry. However, if you are coming from a country with a high risk of Yellow Fever, you may need proof of vaccination. If you are considering visiting the Amazon region of the country, it is strongly recommended to get a yellow fever vaccine.

Up-to-date information on international travel and health requirements is provided by the World Health Organization (WHO) at the following websites:

- <https://www.who.int/travel-advice>
- <https://www.who.int/emergencies/diseases/novel-coronavirus-2019>

Medical Services

Any medical service provided by clinics, hospitals, pharmacies, or other health care institution, will have to be funded by the participants directly to the service provider. Hospital information, including a list of those who accept international insurance, will be available at the information desk located at the main meeting venue.

There are no longer COVID restrictions upon entering Peru.

Please note that WMO/IPCC shall not be held responsible for any health problems or accidents that the participants may have. Participants are responsible for making all necessary arrangements for life, health and other forms of insurance as they consider appropriate.

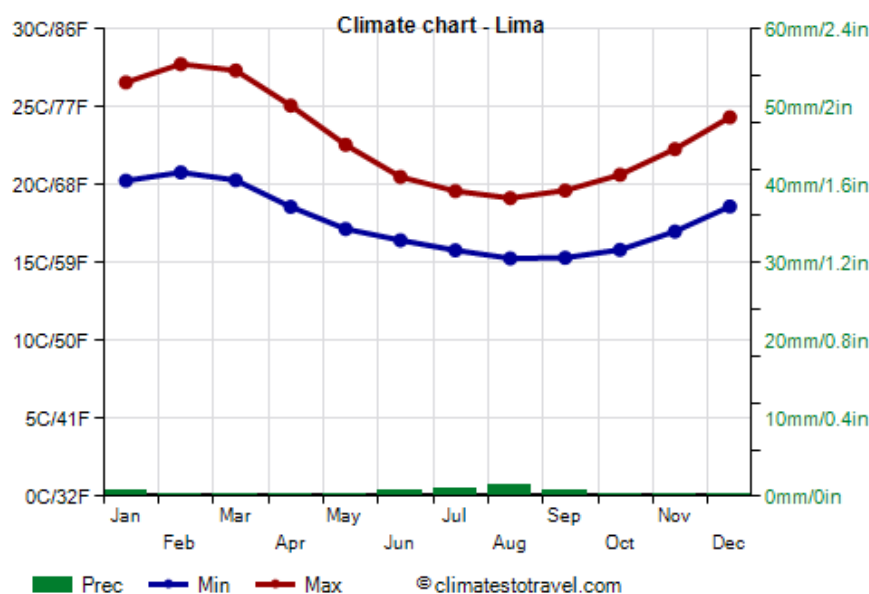

7. WEATHER

Lima and the Peruvian coast go through four seasons: Summer, from January to March; Autumn, from April to June; Winter, from July to September; Spring, from October to December.

The average temperature during November is 15 - 19 °C, and relative humidity can reach 74% to 94%.

Participants are advised to warm clothing during the day since we will be in the middle of the winter season. Furthermore, the effects of El Niño may distort average weather patterns, and slight rain may be unusually expected in Lima during the month of November.

The organizing committee will keep participants updated in weather conditions prior to the event.

8. CURRENCY

The currency in Peru, sol (which also means sun in Spanish), is abbreviated as PEN with a symbol of S/. One sol is further subdivided into 100 céntimos. It has been in use since 1 July 1991, replacing the Peruvian inti.

The American dollar is accepted in many commercial establishments, restaurants, and hotels. It is possible to exchange foreign currency at banks and exchange houses which are open from Monday to Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., and on Saturdays until noon. Be aware of exchanging money at "street dealers".

The current exchange rates are:

$$1 \text{ USD} = \text{S}/3.5$$

$$1 \text{ EUR} = \text{S}/4.15$$

Please note that these rates can vary with time and with the agent exchanging currency. Please check www.xe.com for the most up-to-date exchange rates.

ATMs

ATMs may be found in pharmacies, drugstores, supermarkets, and shopping malls in all cities throughout the country, and most of them are connected to the Plus (Visa) and Cirrus (Mastercard) networks, American Express, and others.

You may withdraw money in soles or American dollars from these ATMs.

Credit cards

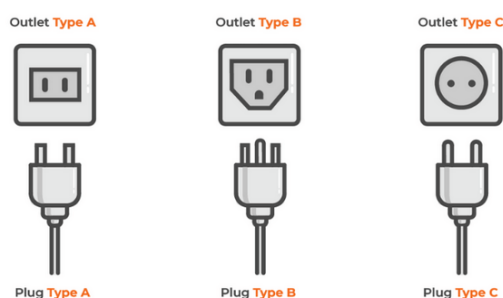

Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Diners Club and other major credit cards are widely accepted at hotels, restaurants, and shops. However, some restaurants and small shops accept only cash payments.

Tipping

Service charge is included in most restaurants and hotels. However, rounding up bills to 10% is always appreciated.

9. ELECTRICITY

Power systems are 220 volts and 60 Hz.

Peru uses 3 different power outlets. Delegates can expect to find Type A/B, which is common in North America as well as Type C, which is common in most of Europe.

Participants are advised to bring their own plug adapters to plug into power sockets.

10. ACCOMMODATION

Participants are responsible for making their own hotel arrangements.

The list of hotels will be provided as soon as the venue is confirmed.

Internet services

Free Wi-Fi facility will be available at the venue and meeting rooms. You will be given details of the wireless network connection when you register on-site.

11. WORKING LANGUAGES
